Q: How to find matches for properties of all objects on array I have array of objects like so: const arr=[{ name: "john", age: "40" }, { name: "george", age: "26" }, { name: "bill", age: "38" }]; I need to check if the array has more than three objects with the same properties (same values for their name and age). If there is such an array, then some calculations are done and a message is set to true. Here I describe the logic, and provide the following solution: find all objects with the same properties (same name and age) try to assign all these objects to the same array, e.g. the array
