The first is subsetting the list, while the second is subsetting the data.frame. You probably want the latter: > get_value get_value(myClass, "dd") [1] "2009-10-10"

Drivers who fail to wear seat belts or use a cellphone while driving could face fines from $160 up to $400. More than one in four motorists in Manitoba pay their fines within a year of getting a ticket, according to a new study. Carla Cadieux with the Budget and Corporate Services department says the number of drivers unable to pay fines has increased. "We're seeing a lot of it. We're not going to have the ability to fully catch up until about 2020, so we're seeing a lot of people who end up having to pay fines out of pocket," she said. The study says people who have cars insured by Assurance Canada appear more likely to pay up. It says the rate for those who are uninsured jumps to 43 per cent. The fines for not wearing a seatbelt range between $160 and $400. For the cellphone charge it's between $136 and $390, while the fine for not wearing a seatbelt while driving with a child is between $136 and $500. The study also looked at the number of people who pay their fines within one year of receiving a ticket, and found the rate has been increasing from 14 per cent in 2007 to 24 per cent in 2015. The rates were higher when comparing fine payers in specific sub-categories: The website is down for maintenance. We are working to bring it back up as soon as possible. In 2011, the study showed 28 per cent of fine payers failed to pay within a year, while the percentage who paid within one year was 59 per cent.Localized low-amplitude retrograde response and temporal dispersion in mechanosensitive neurons of the deep sea vestibulolateral torus semicircularis nucleus.
