Sample: This is a true story about a man who wanted to cure his wife's cancer. So he went to the house of a wise doctor and asked him about a cure. The doctor said that cancer was of the soul and only the consciousness could cure it. The man became very sad but knew he had to do something. He went home and decided to give the doctor a test by imagining what would happen. He went to bed and fell asleep without eating or drinking anything. He then found himself in a river and waded ashore, from where he reached a city and walked in the streets asking people if they knew the way to the doctor's house. At last, he found the house and the doctor was there. The doctor said that the man was now ready for the cure. So he started by giving him a chemical solution which would turn off all his consciousness. The patient was lying on the couch and he was not aware of what was going on around him. The cure lasted for 4 days. When the doctor came to see him, he was shocked to find that the patient was very weak and looking very ill. The patient said that he had not eaten or drunk anything for the last 4 days. The doctor asked, "Did you eat anything?"

"No." the patient replied. The doctor said, "How can you be cured without eating or drinking?" The patient said, "Give me some food." The doctor replied, "No, my medicine is a solution and when you have lost your consciousness, I will need you to do nothing but meditate." The patient then thought about what he had been told and meditated in silence. He gained consciousness and felt a change in his mind, body and energy. He had no longer any feeling of hunger. But the doctor asked, "Do you feel hungry?" "No." the patient replied. The doctor said, "How can I help you if you do not feel hungry?" The patient said, "But I do feel hungry." The doctor then gave the patient food and he ate. The patient felt a great craving for food and ate ravenously. The doctor said, "Are you feeling better now?" "Yes." the patient replied. The doctor gave him the cure and the patient recovered completely.
